The 5 Whisky Regions Of Scotland

Highland
The Highland malts vary greatly in character. From dry to sweet, touches of smoke and peat

Island
The Inner Hebrides generally produce strong peaty malts with maritime aromas. The characteristic smokiness packs a punch

Speyside
This region is home to approximately half of Scotland's distilleries. It produces mellow, sweet and fruity malts

Islay
Islay is often called 'Whisky Island' due to the number of distilleries. Its malts are very distinct with heavy peat and smoky flavours

Lowland
This region produces more whisky than any other region of Scotland. The Lowland is famous for light, grassy single malts
