THE HISTORY OF THE CAFÉ ROYAL

THE HISTORY OF THE CAFÉ ROYAL The first Café Royal in Edinburgh was founded by Mr John Ambrose and opened in 1826 at 1 Register Place across the road from the present building. It previously was a tavern, serving coffee and wine, as well as beer and spirits and equipped with ample dining rooms which specialised in oysters.

In 1861 all the properties in the area were sold to Robert Hume, a plumber, who then proceeded to demolish all the old, original buildings. Work started on the present building in 1861. It was originally built to be a showroom for the latest in gas and sanitary fittings, but it is doubtful that it ever accommodated any baths or sinks!

On 8th July 1863 the Café Royal moved to its new location in this stylish Parisian building, which was designed by local architect Robert Paterson. A glorious example of Victorian and Baroque, little has changed since then. Entering the Café Royal is like taking a step back in time. Elegant stained glass and fine late Victorian plasterwork dominate the building. Irreplaceable Royal Doulton ceramic murals, painted by John Eyre, adorn the walls in both the restaurant and bar. These were purchased by an early licensee J. McIntyre Henry from the 1886 International Exhibition of Industry, Science and Art, which was held on Edinburgh's meadows.

Since opening, the Café Royal has passed through the hands of many owners, although none have threatened the uniquely Victorian atmosphere. None, that is with the exception of Grand Metropolitan Hotels, who took over in 1965 and agreed, four years later, to sell the building to Woolworths wishing to extend their Princes Street store. Fortunately, the city Planning Officer disagreed, and aided by a petition of 8700 signatures, he ensured that planning permission was denied. On 27th February 1970 the whole building and its interior were listed thus preserving it for future generations.

CHAMPAGNE & OYSTERS IN SCOTLAND'S OLDEST OYSTER BAR

Available in the Bar from 11am, Seven Days a Week, This marriage of social resonance, is a perfect pairing, combining two aspects that fit in perfect harmony, with the champagne there is not an attempt to destroy the qualities of the oyster, and neither is the oyster subordinated to the freshness of the champagne, but one element enhances the other. Two jewels of gastronomy where pleasure is the key element in this deliberate combination. An extravagant and aphrodisiac marriage needs a certain amount of creativity. Natural oysters best combine with a young vintage champagne, light and vibrant with good acidity, without dosage, served at a temperature of 6-8°C. Oysters and Champagne are a marriage not intended to please everyone, so the consumer must be seduced and willing to accept the challenge.

CASK ALES

Ales have been produced in Scotland for about 5,000 years. The Celtic tradition of using bittering herbs remained in Scotland longer than in the rest of Europe. Most breweries developed in the central Lowlands, which also contained the main centres of population. Edinburgh and Alloa in particular became noted centres for the export of beer around the world. By the end of the 20th century, small breweries had sprung up all over Scotland.

CAFE ROYAL

WEST REGISTER STREET

ARDBEG 10 Year Old 5.80
Smoky fruit with waxy chocolate limes, crackling peat with lemon and cinnamon spiced toffee.

ARDBEG 'Uigeadail' Cask Strength 8.10
Initial sweet flavours: Christmas pudding doused in treacle, followed by smoked meats and olives. A well rounded, full deep malt, with a long nish.

ARDBEG 'Corryvreckan' Cask Strength 9.60
An intense and powerful expression. Swirling aromas and torrents of deep, peaty, peppery taste lurk beneath the surface of this beautifully balanced dram.

BOWMORE 12 Year Old 5.70
A dry, slightly peaty malt with indications of flowers and shrubs – sea meeting the land.

BOWMORE 15 Year Old 'Darkest' 7.65
Dark, full and brooding; robust with molasses-drenched dried fruits and a rich finish.

BOWMORE 18 Year Old 11.70
Creamy caramel toffee with ripe fruit and smoke aromas - an incredibly complex whisky.

BOWMORE 25 Year Old 37.20
Rich amber hue, intense herb-like aromas prevail over the sherry and peat. To taste, this is pleasantly subtle with sherried oak, toffee and hazelnut on the finish.

BRUICHLADDICH 'Scottish Barley Classic' 5.90
Clean, invigorating, with wild flowers over honeyed vanilla and sea salt, alongside sweet oak and barley sugar.

BUNNAHABHAIN 12 Year Old 6.00
Fresh, sweet sea air aroma; gentle, nutty, malty sweetness with a full refreshing finish.

BUNNAHABHAIN 18 Year Old 11.10
Honeyed nuts with a slightly sea-induced salty tang, rich toffee and leathery oak aromas.

BUNNAHABHAIN 25 Year Old 33.25
Nutty Jamaica cake, marzipan and custard, rich fruit cake, caramel and light toffee with ginger spice, chocolate orange and perfumed saddle soap.

CAOL ILA 12 Year Old 5.90
Lighter bodied than many Islay malts, but still delivering that peaty smoke with twist of lemon. Very nice.

CAOL ILA 'Moscatel' 8.35
This "No Age Statement" whisky is gentler and lighter than the 12 but still peaty, creamy and lemony.

CAOL ILA MOCH 8.05
Easy drinking dram, on the lighter side of the 12 year, creamy and lemony nose and smooth medium bodied palate.

KILCHOMAN 'Sanaig' 6.45
Dry white grapes & bursts of red currants grow into black peppered chocolate with a lengthy coastal smoke.

KILCHOMAN 'Machir Bay' 6.00
A classic Islay malt, fresh and peaty with rich tropical fruits and an intense sweetness.

ISLAY MALTS

LAGAVULIN 8 Year Old 7.90
Sweet, perfumed smoke with hints of the coast; savoury aromas invoking images of beach bon res.

LAGAVULIN 'Pedro Ximenez Finish' 10.10
A medicinal seaweed and iodine character reinforced by intense sweet fruity richness of the Pedro Ximenez.

LAPHROAIG 10 Year Old 6.00
Medicinal notes with a smoky hit of peat and a salty sweet finish.

LAPHROAIG 'Quarter Cask' 7.45
The sherry impact has developed smoked almonds, molasses, raisin, toffee and hints of the classic Laphroaig smoke.

LAPHROAIG 'LORE' 11.30
Chestnut puree covered in chocolate toffee and Szechuan pepper. An intense flavour sensation.

PORT CHARLOTTE 'Scottish Barley' Cask 7.50
Huge waves of smoke and malted barley with sweet vanilla, mellow oak, iodine and leather tobacco pouches.

CAMPBELTOWN

GLEN SCOTIA 'Double Cask' 5.75
1st fill bourbon and Pedro Ximénez port cask make for a fudgy, herbal, fruity concoction that is very tasty.

GLEN SCOTIA 15 Year Old 7.80
Fruit cake mix - ginger, orange peel, sultanas, apples and vanilla spice covered in sea spray.

LOWLAND

AUCHENTOSHAN 12 Year Old 5.85
Aromas of warm vanilla and lemons; zesty and slightly sweet with a soft citrusy perfumed finish.

AUCHENTOSHAN 'Three Wood' 7.80
Soft zesty aroma with a long creamy finish and a sappy dryness, chocolate and toasted hazelnuts.

GLENKINCHIE 12 Year Old 5.70
Softly aromatic, light and spicy. Gingery dryness, fragrant spice and oaky dry finish.

GLENKINCHIE 'Amontillado Finish' 8.00
Floral nutty sherry, oranges and barley sugar with marzipan, apricots and soft oak
